

'LET'S DO LUNCH'

Forget about a $500 cocktail, try a $2,500 lunch! Just as yearly physicals and semi-annual dental exams make it on everyone's to-do list, taking serious care of your skin is just as essential. No need to dread an appointment with facial plastic and cosmetic surgeon, Dr Philip Miller, though. (This Dr's appointment is non-invasive!) Even editors from Condé Nast Magazines in Times Square would consider playing hooky from the cafeteria for his Rejuvenation Lunch. The menu includes a Botox or Restylane treatment, intense pulse light (IPL) therapy to reduce visibility of pores, sun damage and broken capillaries, and a Vitamin A bath to renew skin, among other treatments. Like any great chef, he uses his own techniques to help revive your complexion and renew the skin's appearance. Skipping lunch has never been more rewarding! Treatment is recommended every three months.
